FACE-TALK.

Anna caught to play "blunder" only to rural. "Blunder" she isn't strong enough for the. "Blunder" she isn't strong enough for the. "Blunder" she isn't strong enough for the.

William Black, the novelist, began his literary career on a weekly newspaper. Boys, do you see the possibilities of such a humble beginning?—Editorial Observer.

"What is that I see?" "That, my child, is the news interviewer, and he is now interviewing a man." "But where is the man?" "I can see no man." "The man, my child, is in his mind!"—Denver Tribune Printer.

"Mrs. Jones has sent to borrow my bonnet, and I don't want to loan it to her. What message shall I return?" said a lady to her husband. "The reply was clear and prompt: 'Tell her she has your good will, but she cannot have your fixtures.'"

A writer says: "The cause of a study. Well, we should confess. It is so much of a study that a man wants to be around the study corner when he is studying it. Or use a talisman. It resembles nothing so much as a half open barn door slammed shut by a tornado. When a camel kicks every body has an engagement somewhere else, pretty quick."—Norfolk Herald.

Miss Julia and her mamma were on a visit to a newspaper office. "Who?" inquired the blushing maiden. "The younger man, whose face is wreathed in smiles, whose eye is bright, whose laugh is loud and long." "That, my dear," remarked the business manager, "is the ordinary editor." "And who is he that looks so sad and mournful, like unto a discharged tragedian in the undertaking business?" "That, fair maiden, is our professional humorist. He was born that way."—New York Commercial.

An Eastern editor says that a man in New York got himself into trouble by marrying two wives. A Western editor replies by asking his contemporary what a good many men in that section had done the same thing by marrying one. A Northern editor retorts that quite a number of his acquaintances found trouble enough by barely promising to marry, without going any further. To which a Southern editor adds that a friend of his was bothered enough when simply found to be company with another man's wife.

A man went into a florist's in New York the other day and said, "My old friend J. B. is dead. I want you to send a handsome pillow of flowers to his house." The florist took down the order. "And I want," continued the mourner, "the letters 'S. Y. L.' worked into the pillow in buds." "But," suggested the florist, "those are not your friend's initials." "I know that," was the reply, "but that's what I want done." "They are not your own initials either," persisted the florist, thinking there must be some mistake. His customer assured him that he knew what he was about. As the man was leaving the shop the florist said: "Those letters do excite my curiosity, may I ask what they stand for?" "Certainly," said the customer, "they stand for 'See You Later.'"

There was a new compositor in the office this morning. He was a wandering "rub." After wrestling a few minutes with a "take" of manuscript, he put down his "stick," remarked "I'm sick," slipped on his coat and walked out. A proof of his matter was soon taken with the following result: "I can't read Chinese. The man who wrote this is evidently laboring under a fit of alcoholism. Before I would try and 'yank' anything from this manuscript I would steal a jack-knife and make shoe-pegs at 2 cents a quart. The foregoing confession I make in a moment of despair, after having turned this copy upside down, tumbled it over, and every other way. One way it is Greek, another some antiquarian dialect or Egyptian hieroglyphics from Cleopatra's needle. If you are after reputation, for humanity's sake stop where you are. I go, I know not where."—New Haven Register.

That most comfortable Ticket Office, 187 West Street, New York, is now under the management of Mr. C. V. Ward, who has taken over the management of our representatives recently. "Some months ago I had rheumatism in my right arm, and was unable to raise it. I was advised by a friend to use St. Jacob's Oil. I did so, and before the second bottle had been exhausted my arm was perfectly well."—Brooklyn Eagle.

"Young man," said the landlord, "I always eat the cheese rind." And the new boarder replied, "Just so; I am leaving this for you."—New Haven Journal.

OUR GRANDMOTHERS taught their daughters that "a stitch in time saves nine." A pill in time saves not only nine, but oftentimes an incalculable amount of suffering as well. An occasional dose of Dr. Pierce's Little Sugar-coated Pills, to cleanse the stomach and bowels, not only prevents disease but often breaks up sudden attacks, when taken in time. By druggists.

"Mamma, do you know what the largest species of ants are? You shake your head. Well, I'll tell you. They are elephants."

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" perfectly cures permanently cures those diseases peculiar to females. It is tonic and nerve, effectually allaying and curing those sickening sensations that affect the stomach and heart through reflex action. The backache and "dragging-down" sensations all disappear under the strengthening effects of this great restorative. By druggists.

"If I rest I rust," is a German proverb. "If I trust I bust," is the American version. —Bloomfield Express.

DR. MORRIS' LIVER PILLS are the best Cathartic Regulators.

When a couple make up their minds to get married it may be called a life vote.

The success of St. Jacob's Oil throughout the civilized world, is without parallel. —Richmond (Va.) Southern Planter & Farmer.

The young man who boasted that he could marry any girl he pleased, found he couldn't marry any.

For weak lungs, spitting of blood, weak stomach, night sweats, and the early stages of Consumption, see "Golden Medical Discovery" is specific. By druggists.

BROTHER GARDNER'S NEW YEAR'S TALK.

"De for 1881, am past an' gone forever," said Brother Gardner as Samuel Sain let the stove alone. "I see nuffin' but 'bout it nuffin' to call for signs an' tears an' groans which kin be heard two blocks away. We expect de year to pass away. We expect to grow old, an' to hev gray hairs, an' to catch de rheumatiz. Dat's what we can heal for if we could alias remain young an' purty, an' part our hair in de middle, an' w'at yer kins an' smell of cologne, de undertaker an' de grave digger would stave to death."

My friends, in beginning de new year don't start out on de belief dat de louder you talk de more argument ye hev.

"Dum! imagine dat ebber man wid a gift of gab am a bo'n orator. 'When you find a quiet man don't rash off an' gin him credit for wisdom. Some men don't talk kase dey hev nuffin' to say. Silence am no mo' a sign of wisdom dan poundin' on an empty bar'l am a sign of war. 'If argment won't bring a man oler to your side ob de question knockin' him down won't do any good."

"De man who can run up a bill at de butcher's an' dodge him for six months, am not necessarily a statesman."

"De man who takes up de moss' sidewalk am not allus de possion ob de moss' consequence. A fifteen cent drunkard wana no more in de world dan a Judge of de Supreme Court."

"Jealousy of your neighbor am not ambish. Slander am a weapon used only towards. Hopin' dese few remarks won't do you any perkerick injury, we will now address ourselves to de usual programing." —Detroit Free Press.

Coffee-drinkers should read de advertisement in another column headed Good Coffee.

T. T. HAYDOCK,

Carriage Manufacturer, Cor. Plum and 12th Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

This firm is now in its sixth year of existence, and the rapid and permanent growth it has made is something unprecedented in the history of carriage building. Its permanency and growth have been accomplished, not by any special effort at "drumming" the trade, but by the excellence of the work produced, and by the low price at which this work has been sold. Another great feature of its success is in the style of the work produced. It is too often the case that in low priced work the style is correspondingly low or common in appearance. But all goods manufactured by T. T. Haydock, are made in a stylish and artistic manner, thus adding beauty to quality. This firm will build the lowest grade, nor the lowest priced work in the market by any means, but is making a specialty of a medium grade full leather top buggy at a very low price for the quality; and is offering special inducement to the trade to buy in large quantities. Send for Catalogues and Wholesale Price List, by addressing T. T. HAYDOCK, COR. PLUM AND 12TH STS., CINCINNATI, OHIO.
